County cancels Hike Haliburton Festival

CHAD INGRAM
County Life Staff

Haliburton County's Hike Haliburton Festival has been cancelled for 2020 amid the COVID-19 pandemic.

County councillors made the decision during a May 27 meeting (that meeting taking place via online conferencing platform Zoom and broadcast on YouTube) after receiving a report from tourism director Amanda Virtanen.

Hike Haliburton is the county's signature event, which takes place each fall and includes dozens of guided hikes at locations throughout the county.

As Virtanen told council, typically planning – including organizing the hikes, retaining volunteer guides, attaining sponsorships, etc. – takes place throughout May and June. "Generally, by Canada Day, everything is open to market and the promotion begins," she said.

Virtanen's report included four options, ranging from planning to host the event as usual, to scaled-down repackaged versions of the event, to Option D – complete cancellation.

Councillors reluctantly agreed that cancellation made the most sense, given it's unclear what will happen with the curve of the coronavirus outbreak and what provincial regulations may be by the end of the summer.

"Despite the event being several months away, we don't know where it's going," said Algonquin Highlands Mayor Carol Moffatt.

"Things like the ploughing match and the CNE have had to cancel," said Dysart et al Mayor Andrea Roberts. " . . . I reluctantly choose Option D."

Dysart et al Deputy Mayor Pat Kennedy said he'd like to see the money allotted for this year's festival – $7,100 of its $46,000 budget had been spent – held in reserve, and for the county to host an extra large festival in 2021. Other members of council agreed.

The Haliburton County Echo newspaper office is housed in the building Jack Laking built. Little has changed on the exterior with the building since it was built in 1917, as seen above in this photo from the Haliburton Highlands Museum archives.. An addition was built, and various updates have been made related to heating, cooling and communications. / DARREN LUM Staff

Haliburton Rocks group brings sentiment to sediment

ZACHARY ROMAN
County Life Staff

You may have noticed something different on your walks around Haliburton recently: painted rocks.

Painting rocks with uplifting messages and/or beautiful art, then leaving them near sidewalks or walking trails, has become a trend amid the COVID-19 pandemic. It's one of many new things communities around the world are doing to spread positivity without risking spreading the virus.

About a month ago, Haliburton resident Louise Deegan started a Facebook page called Haliburton Rocks, hoping to inspire the Haliburton community to spread that same positivity.

"I am originally from the UK and started following a Facebook group called Congleton Rocks from my hometown when lockdown began," said Deegan. "I definitely got a feel-good effect … when reading through the Congleton Rocks page on Facebook, and thought having something similar here in Haliburton would be nothing but positive." The Congleton Rocks page has been active for three years and has over 800 members.

Since Deegan started the Haliburton Rocks group, it has amassed nearly 100 members, with many sharing photos of the rocks they have painted or found. One of those members is Monica Keefer, who said that it has been relaxing and fun to create the rocks.

"I hope it brings smiles to the community and brings us together, [stronger] together, even if it means at a distance," said Keefer. "My hope is to help mentally those that see them, bring joy to their lives, and [help them] know they are not alone."

Group member Nancy Brownsberger echoed this sentiment. She said the rocks help remind people that we are all in this together and that love is everywhere.

Deegan said the response to the group has been positive so far and is hoping that even more people will share their stories and rocks to the page. "I hoped it would give kids and adults a creative outlet and make them think how a small gesture can make someone else feel hope," said Deegan. "The best part of painting rocks is to brighten someone's day."

Group member Daniela Pagliaro is someone who found one of the painted rocks in the community – she found a blue and white rock with the word kindness on it at Baked and Battered. "[It] made me double happy for being there and brightened my day," said Pagliaro.

If you want to join Haliburton Rocks, you can search for their group on Facebook.

Haliburton County Public Library At Home

Upcycled oval garden hose patio rug

While our buildings might be closed, we still want you to be able to enjoy your public library. So, here at HCPL at Home we'll be giving you a maker project to try every week that you can make with things that you already have around the house, or that are easy to get locally.

If you end up making a project please post photos with the hashtag, #HCPLatHome, we would love to see what you create.

This project is a great way to use broken and old garden hoses and keep them out of land fill.

Supplies:

- old garden hose
- 200 (approx) 5 inch zip ties

Instructions:

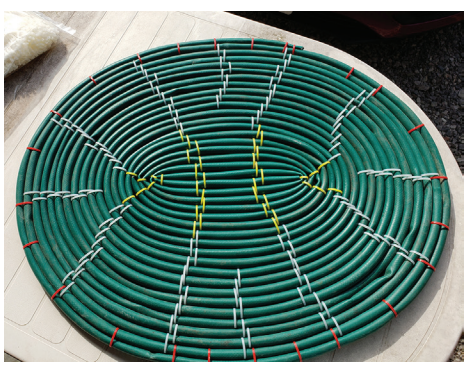
After cleaning the hose to remove any dirt, stretch the hose out to remove any kinks on a warm day so that the hose is more pliable and remove the garden hose ends.

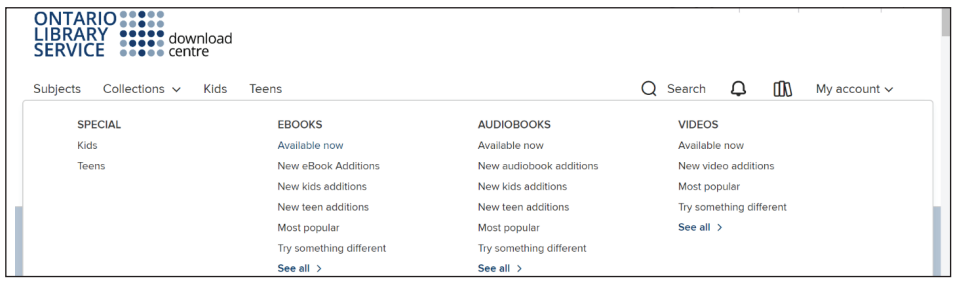
Remove the metal parts at each end of the hose.

Begin by bending the hose, approximately 12 inches, at one end to form the centre of your rug and secure using zip ties. Turning your work as you progress, wrap the hose around the oval created and secure the two rows together using a zip tie every four inches. Continue wrapping the hose around itself and securing tightly (but not too tightly) with zip ties around two rows of the hose.

Repeat this with every new row, using a zip tie to include the new row and previous row until you reach the end of your old garden hose.

Trim zip tie ends and flip your rug over if you wish to hide the trimmed ends.





OverDrive & Libby eBooks "Available Now"

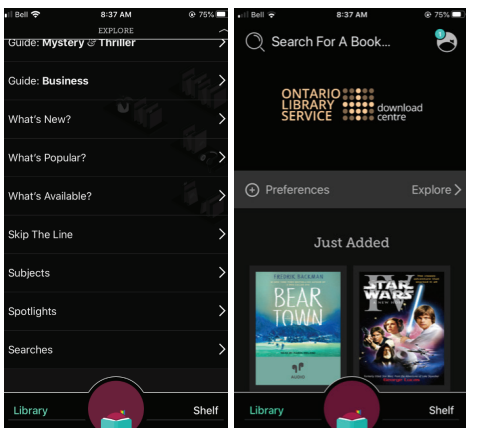
We also want to introduce you to an aspect of our online services each week, you can view the video of the service live on Facebook or archived on YouTube.

Struggling to find a book to borrow that doesn't have a long wait time? You can use the "Available Now" feature to search in either Overdrive or Libby to find something to borrow immediately.

To get started, open your preferred method for accessing our digital collection and sign in to your account.

On the Overdrive website, you can browse the "Available Now" collection. To do this, click on the "Collections" heading and choose "Available Now" from under EBOOKS or AUDIOBOOKS to browse available titles. Find something interesting? Check it out and start reading or listening

If using Libby, click on the "Explore" option from the Library page and choose "What's Available?" from the list. From there, you have the option to browse books, audiobooks or all available titles. When something catches your eye, simply borrow and begin reading!



The video "OverDrive & Libby eBooks Available Now" will be live from the library's Facebook page on June 12 at 2 p. m. All videos are archived on our YouTube channel bit.ly/hcpl-youtube

Return of the Haliburton County Farmers' Market

THE HALIBURTON County Farmers' Market is very pleased to announce we are able to open our markets in Haliburton County, offering a wide selection of great, fresh local food. We have worked hard over the last two months to develop an operational plan for this pandemic climate that meets Public Health requirements. We have received approval from the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit. As well, all three municipalities have given the green light to use their properties.

Here are the opening dates we're aiming for:

Minden – Saturdays, starting June 13, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Minden Fairgrounds. Parking at the Minden Curling Club (Relocated from our regular site).

Haliburton – Tuesdays, starting June 16, noon to 4 p.m. at Rotary Park (Relocated from our regular site).

Stanhope – Fridays, starting June 26, noon to 4 p.m. at the Stanhope Community Centre.

We want to thank our partners, HKPRDHU and the local municipalities for continuing to support access to local food, and for their help in developing our plan. We want to thank all of our loyal customers and vendors who have been waiting to find out what's happening with the farmers' market this season.

We will do everything possible to ensure the market will be a safe venue for vendors and customers alike. To that end, it has been obvious from the beginning of the pandemic crisis that we would not be able to run a business-as-usual operation this year.

We encourage everyone attending the market to please adhere to all required COVID-19 rules which will be posted prominently and to wear a mask.

All markets will be one-way walk through, and customers must maintain proper social distancing.

Pre-ordering, pick up and go and contactless payment will be encouraged. Please check out our website www.hcfma.ca for details.

We are in need of volunteers. If you are interested, please call 705-306-0523, or email incrediblehcfma@gmail.com.

We are looking forward to seeing you at the market.

Submitted by Gus Janca, secretary, HCFM

Top 10 reasons not to have that third cup of coffee

STEVE GALEA
Humour Columnist

IF YOU ARE like me, you probably drink a little more coffee than you should. Knowing this, you might even be trying to cut down your consumption to a reasonable level. If that's the case, you're in luck. Here are my top 10 reasons not to have a third cup of coffee.

1. There's no need to climb any walls today.
2. The next restroom is 50 miles down the road.
3. When it comes to the laxative effect, third time is a charm.
4. It's only 4 a.m.
5. To prove you are not an addict.
6. The tea industry needs your support too.
7. So people don't confuse you with the auctioneer at tonight's event.
8. You are scheduled to perform open heart surgery in 10 minutes.
9. It's Folger's.
10. Why dirty another cup when you can drink it straight from the carafe?

Fleck of blue butterfly, paler than Sky, fluttering above the gravel trail,
so low, it skims stones and thatches of grass, springing from cracks in the earth, grounding my eyes, away from Sky, and the shapes of trees,
that are gaining in girth, each day, fleshed out by leaves, green sleeves cloaking the long fingers of trees.
My eyes flit like the butterfly, from stone to grass to rock to tree, resting my eyes alongside the blue butterfly, in a sea
of green needles,
the pine sapling, so small, no taller than my knees, surrounded by its siblings that fringe the trail,
sprouting so close together,
I wonder what will happen when the saplings grow, their branches, spreading like wings, with no place to fly, stretching wider and higher, sharing Air with their elders, that guard them as they grow, alone, together, the forest cradling their Breath, as they cradle
the forest's, merging without even knowing it.
My eyes follow the butterfly, as it flits from pine to pine,
its colouring reminding me of cornflowers,
the petals of its wings smudging Air with a softness that I feel, for the first time, this Spring, watching as the butterfly rests for a moment, on the branch of a sapling so green, as if its needles have been soaked by a month of Rain, the tree lit from within, as if threads of Sun have been stitched into its skin, blotting the blue of butterfly.
I blink up at the taller pines, hovering behind,
like shadows,
inhaling the Air that we share, before I glance back down at the sapling, its visitor, gone, to explore the terrain of rock and grass or maybe another tree.
I feel the needles where the butterfly rested,
the pinecone buds swelling on the branch,
the smell of sap still sleeping inside them,
I laced with traces of butterfly, paler than Sky, fluttering through Air, somewhere,
the fragrance of forest trailing its wings.

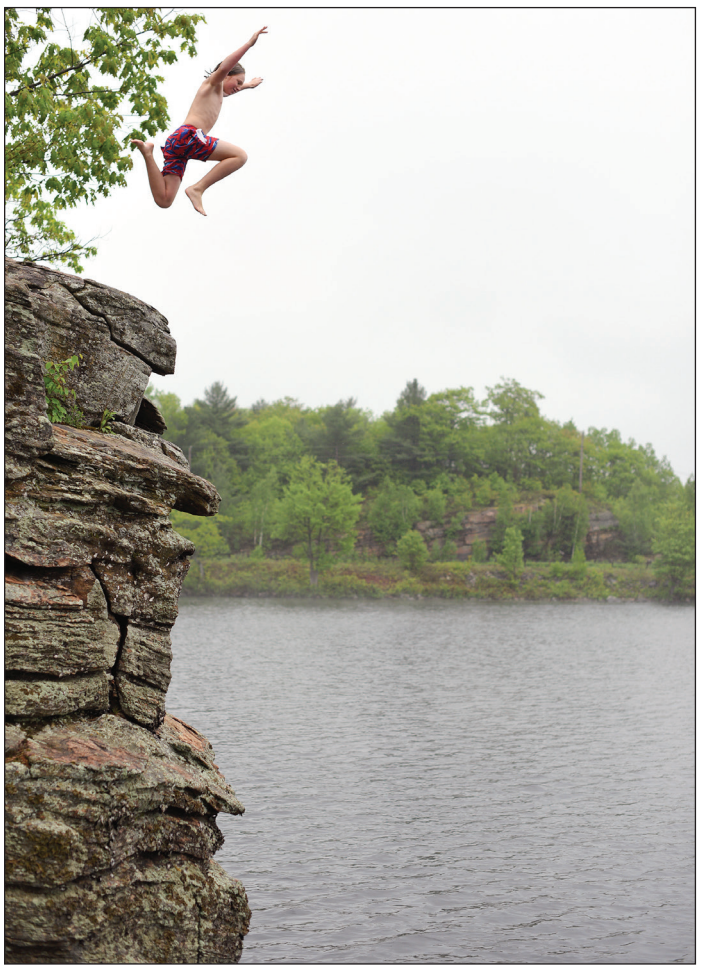
No time for play

Playgrounds in Highlands East remained closed, as seen in this image taken with caution tape at the Gooderham Community Playground. From the Highlands East website: "Playground equipment is considered a high-touch surface and cannot be sanitized after each use. Signage will be posted at these locations to inform people of the closure. Restricted use of playground structures and equipment is not easily enforced. We ask that all parents, caregivers and grandparents help us implement this measure by talking with your children and helping to keep them off the structures." /DARREN LUM Staff



Taking a leap

Finn Taylor-Bayly, 12, leaps into Little Gull Lake on Saturday, May 30 in Minden. Despite the cooler temperatures Saturday when temperatures dipped from the 30s a few days earlier down to less than 20 degrees Celsius, several swimmers visited the cliff area to dive off from and swim in the lake close to noon./ DARREN LUM Staff

No ball for Minden youth this summer

DARREN LUM
County Life Staff

Like much of everything this year, the Minden Minor Baseball League's 2020 season has been officially cancelled.

Organizers Tammy and Craig Smith made the official announcement on May 25 through the league's Facebook page, calling it a "sad day for MMBL."

"Even though the full season won't happen, we have made plans that if and when the social distancing ban is lifted we are going to offer Monday night MMBL fun nights, pay as you go: games, skills, practices and anything else we can do to keep the kiddos into baseball and to keep active. We will be contacting players' parents and sponsors about refunds by email shortly," Tammy wrote on Facebook. "Stay safe and know that we are here for you all and will do what we can, when we can."

Before their announcement, there was hope for a season.

Registration was performed online this year and there were 35 children signed up to play this season. During past years, the league has included children as young as three up to youth aged 17. Eight coaches and upwards of 12 assistants were also committed to assist the league for the season before it was cancelled. The league's season also included the Dawson Hamilton Memorial Tournament and an end-of-year barbecue.

Organizers of the Minden Minor Baseball League, Tammy and Craig Smith are saddened about cancelling this year's season, as the result of safety measures for reducing the spread of the coronavirus. Later ths year, if safe, the league is looking to hold informally held games and instruction on Monday evenings./DARREN LUM Staff

The Smiths have been helping run the league for close to a dozen years, but officially assumed control of youth league and made the league a not-for-profit, taking over from the Minden Hills Township in 2018.

It's always been an effort rooted in passion for the Minden couple, who love the game of baseball and wanted to share their passion for the game with the community's youth. The league encouraged teamwork and fair play.

The couple apologize for cancelling the season.

"We want to express how sorry we are and we don't like feeling like we're letting the kids down because that's what we're here for is to help out the kids, keep them active and enjoy the wonderful game of baseball," she wrote. "We would like to thank everyone who signed up and our sponsors and of course the volunteers without their dedication we do not have a league and we hope that if social distancing becomes a thing in our past that we can call on the volunteers and sponsors once again to assist us in making something happen for the kids. We hope everyone stays safe and healthy and we will have a great league again for the 2021 season."

THE SPRING BEAR HUNT IS BACK.

Hunters never give up. It took the OFAH 21 years; we took on the politicians, the courts, the media and anti-hunting groups, never giving up on the science, the economy and our heritage that absolutely needs Ontario's spring bear hunt.

Many OFAH supporters never even hunted spring bear before it was cancelled in 1999. They thought if a hunt gets canned based on misinformation and money, what outdoor tradition would propaganda threaten next? This is the reason they joined a hunting organization.

We are in this together.

The best way to celebrate the spring bear hunt is to belong to the OFAH. As always, anglers and hunters turn to Ontario OUT of DOORS Magazine for information, and they count on the OFAH for representation – plus members' insurance and great discounts.

The spring bear hunt is back, but the OFAH fight for anglers, hunters and gun owners is never over.

"The truth is, the spring bear hunt would still be nothing more than a footnote in Ontario's outdoors history, had it not been for the stubborn and steadfast efforts of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters (OFAH)." — Steve Galea, Ontario OUT of DOORS.
